Barack's Beliefs

An Alinskyite Socialist

- In 1996 Obama attended meetings at the “Democrat Socialists for America” which endorsed him for his Illinois State Senate run.<sup>1</sup>
- In the mid 1990's, Obama attended “New Party” meetings; a group dedicated to turning the Democrat Party into a Socialist party. The New Party had several notable Marxist members, among them Noam Chomsky and Carl Davidson.<sup>2</sup>
- In 1988 Obama wrote an article titled: “After Alinsky: Community Organizing in Illinois”, in which he praises one of his mentors; an Alinskyite with the Gamaliel Foundation, John McKnight.<sup>3</sup>
- About the time Obama was going to Harvard Law School, he attended a training course by Alinsky's “Industrial Areas Foundation” where among other things he learned, “The Tactics of Agitation”, an Alinsky strategy for stirring up dissent and discontent among the populace.<sup>4</sup>
- The fact that Obama was trained in Alinsky style radicalism and put it into practice was confirmed by none other than Saul Alinsky's son. In a letter to the Boston Globe in August of 2008 he said he was proud to see Obama use his father's model so successfully.<sup>5</sup>
- In his book, “Dreams of My Father”, Obama cites several communist, socialist, and anti-colonialist authors who influenced his thinking, such as Malcolm X, Langston Hughes, Richard Wright, and James Baldwin. He also credits his “Marxist” professors, going out of his way to label them as Marxists.<sup>6</sup>
- In a 2001 interview Obama said, “The Supreme Court has failed to break free from the essential constraints that were placed from the Founding Fathers.”<sup>7</sup>
- In the same interview he said, “I could come up with a rationale for bringing economic change through the courts.”<sup>8</sup>

- A thirty thousand word National Security Strategy document by the Obama Administration, (A document required by Congress) indicates that the basic tenets of the Obama Doctrine concerning our National Security is that global security comes before U.S. security in importance, and that International Law trumps U.S. Law.<sup>9</sup>
- On June 30th 2009, in a dinner with historians, Obama intimated that he preferred an economic style called “State Capitalism”, (A fascist style economy that conglomerates all business and industry under a few large corporations, unions, and government officials,) over Free Market Capitalism.<sup>10</sup>
- In a town hall style meeting in 2011 Obama retorted, “If you’re complaining about the price of gas and you’re only getting eight miles a gallon, you know, you might want to think about a trade-in.”<sup>11</sup>
- Proving that he wasn’t against high gasoline prices at all, on a CNBC show in 2008 Obama said, “I think I would have preferred a gradual adjustment.” The use of the word, “adjustment” also shows he thought we should have been paying higher prices all along.<sup>12</sup>
- As he recounted in his book, when Obama was a teenager, his main mentor was a man by the name of Frank Marshall Davis, a member of the Communist Party.<sup>13</sup>

An Ayersite Marxist

- Marxist terrorist Bill Ayers (a known and tried terrorist who master minded a successful plot to bomb the Pentagon) launched Barack Obama’s career with a fundraiser held in Ayer’s home in 1995. Ayer’s organization, “The Weather Underground” has stated goals to achieve world communism and to destroy American imperialism.<sup>14</sup>
- Obama and Ayers served together on the Board of Directors for the “Woods Fund” from 1999 to 2002. During that time the fund presented a grant to an anti Israel group called the “Arab American Action Network” headed by the wife of Rashid Khalidi.<sup>15</sup>
- Obama and Ayers spoke together at many meetings, events, panels and discussions, such as a juvenile detention discussion at the University of Chicago Community Service Center.<sup>16</sup>

- Bill Ayers was one of the three coauthors of the “Annenberg Challenge” proposal to the Annenberg Foundation. Who was the first chairman appointed to the Annenberg Challenge? It was none other than Barack Hussein Obama. Ayers and Obama worked together to write the bylaws of the slush fund, and, among others, they granted money to a certain leftist cause: ACORN.<sup>17</sup>
- It is also very likely that Bill Ayers rewrote and edited “Dreams of My Father” for Obama. According to Jack Cashill in his book, “Deconstructing Obama”, there are nearly 800 surprising parallels between “Dreams” and Ayers other writings, including the use of the exact same style of phraseology and extreme use of nautical terms that Ayers had occasion to be familiar with but Obama did not. Even more striking is the exact same misspelling of certain names and places – not only that all the same names and places are misspelled, but they are misspelled in the exact same way. Even certain software programs determined an extremely high probability that Ayers wrote “Dreams.” JGAAP, Fiction Fixer, and Computational Corpus Linguistics all attest to substantial results in comparison of “Dreams” and Ayers other writings, versus books by other authors, when it comes to structure, grammar, and syntax. The comparison is astonishing and nearly exact, even when comparing average sentence lengths, average verb usage, and average number of words per sentence.<sup>18</sup>

Choice of Czars Reflects Obama Philosophy

- Obama’s views are also reflected in the fact that he has appointed Czars who seem to be unaccountable to anyone but him, and in the choices he has made for these positions.
- Obama’s desire to redistribute America’s wealth is reflected in his choice of Regulatory Czar, Cass Sunstein. Sunstein has been an outspoken supporter of using false global warming data for the very purpose of promoting policies that redistribute United States wealth to poorer nations.<sup>19</sup>
- Sunstein further reveals the administrations far left beliefs when he argued that animals should have equal rights with humans and should be able to sue humans in a court of law, in a paper he wrote while at Harvard.<sup>20</sup>
- Mark Lloyd is Obama’s “Diversity Czar” – a man who has encouraged Liberals to file complaints against Conservative Radio Stations, and has written that he desires to confiscate their profits and redistribute them to Liberal Public Radio programs.<sup>21</sup>

- Science Czar John Holdren is a global warming alarmist. (Though he used to be a global cooling alarmist!) Holdren is also a major proponent of instituting forced abortions for population control. In the 1970s he wrote a college textbook called “Ecoscience: Population, Resources, and Environment”, in which he states that a fetus is not a person, and that “green” abortions, compulsory birth control, involuntary abortions, and government imposed sterilizations would all fit within the terms of the U.S. Constitution.<sup>22</sup>
- Carol M. Browner is Obama’s “Energy Czar”. According to Stephen Dinan in a January 12th, 2009 Washington Times article, Browner was a member of a socialist group called the “Commission for a Sustainable World Society” which works for a one world government and calls for rich nations to shrink their economies.<sup>23</sup>
- Former “Green Jobs” Czar van Jones had to resign when it was learned that he was the Founder of a self proclaimed Marxist-Leninist organization called STORM, or “Standing Together to Organize a Revolutionary Movement.”<sup>24</sup>

False Messiah

- From slobbering pundits to orgasmic reporters to crying and weeping supporters, Barack Hussein Obama is lauded as if he were the Second Coming of Christ.
- Obama’s top advisor and handler Valerie Jarrett said that Obama “is just too talented to do what ordinary people do,” according to New Yorker editor David Remnick.<sup>25</sup>
- Crowds actually sang “Obamaleluia” to him at the University of Texas.<sup>26</sup>
- Even Chris Matthews of MSNBC said Obama “...seems to have all the answers. This is the New Testament.”<sup>27</sup>

False Pauper

- Though the Obamas continuously paint a picture of a poor and struggling background and stage shopping sprees at Target, the fact is they came from well off families and went to Ivy League schools. They “struggled” so badly in their early marriage years that they saved 111,000 dollars in 1993, and used it as a down payment on their 280,000 condo in Hyde Park.<sup>28</sup>
- Their combined annual income at the time was 240,000 dollars a year. Apparently the Obamas were not 99 percenters.<sup>29</sup>
- The Obamas were already making five and a half times the median income by the twenty first century.<sup>30</sup>
- Just a few years later Michelle was making a half a million dollars a year between her position at the University of Chicago Medical Center and her serving on six Boards of Directors, including the Board of Directors for Wal-Mart.<sup>31</sup>
- By 2007, Barack Obama’s book royalties alone totaled four million dollars, and in 2008, he made another two and a half million from both books combined.<sup>32</sup>

Michelle Marie Antoinette Obama

- In 2011, Michelle Obama took a number of friends and family members on a tax payer paid trip to South Africa at a cost of nearly a million dollars.<sup>33</sup>
- At a cost of nearly a half million dollars, Michelle Obama took a vacation in Spain at one of the worst points of the recession, and stayed at a five star resort.<sup>34</sup>
- Michelle likes to wear two thousand dollar dresses and carry thousand dollar handbags – apparently her way of feeling the pain of the impoverished.<sup>35</sup>

- If that weren't bad enough, she has attended fund raisers wearing forty two thousand dollars worth of jewelry. This while hundreds of thousands are losing their homes, and tens of millions are out of work. It's alright. Let them eat cake!<sup>36</sup>

The Obama Résumé

- No official records of Obama's college records have ever been released. (He won't release them.)<sup>37</sup>
- Obama began his first political run, a run for the Illinois State Senate, by getting his three opponents - Palmer, Askia, and Ewell disqualified, and running unopposed in the Primary.<sup>38</sup>
- According to FactCheck.org, once he was in office as a State Senator, Obama voted "present" a whopping 123 times. (A "present" vote is a politically motivated vote, that is, it is given for reasons of political expedience over statesmanship.) He had an even worse record of attendance.<sup>39</sup>
- When Obama ran for the U.S. Senate in 2004, his Republican rival Jack Ryan dropped out of the race, leaving him triumphant over the last minute replacement, Alan Keyes. According to FactCheck.org, Obama went on to have the third worst attendance record in the Senate.<sup>40</sup>
- Obama then went on to promise his Illinois constituents he would not run for higher office during his first term – a promise he obviously broke.<sup>41</sup>
- Strangely, his string of effortless political victories won him the enviable position of Keynote Speaker at the 2004 Democrat National Convention, propelling him to nationwide notoriety.<sup>42</sup>
- Even David Axelrod, a chief consultant and advisor to Obama, admits that Obama has never had to run on his accomplishments or lack thereof; but rather campaigns based on rhetoric and personality.<sup>43</sup>

- Only days into his presidency, Obama was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize – an accolade he deserved neither by merit nor by achievement. The award sits in the White House – on an empty chair with a teleprompter in front of it.<sup>44</sup>

Bungling Barack

- Obama issued an order to close the Guantanamo Bay Detention Center on his second day in office, without counting the cost, or considering the feasibility of the order. Later, he had to admit it couldn't be accomplished.<sup>45</sup>
- He showed the same incompetent policy when he tried to give the Al Qaeda terrorists more rights by trying them as if they were American citizens in United States courts; again revealing his naiveté and complete lack of experience when he had to reverse himself by signing the National Defense Authorization Act.<sup>46</sup>
- Under Barack Obama in 2011, the United States Government lost its Triple A Credit Rating for the first time ever, after he screwed up budget talks with Congress, and failing to grasp the very basic concepts of the need for a balanced budget.<sup>47</sup>
- Obama's handling of the BP Oil Spill seemed to be a repeat of the way he handled everything else – by being absent. Even Democrat consultant and strategist James Carville called his lack of action, “political stupidity.”<sup>48</sup>
- Obama promised a large portion of a 2009 stimulus package would go to “shovel ready” jobs, but after the stimulus failed to bring jobs, he actually stated that as it turns out there is no such thing as shovel ready jobs.<sup>49</sup>
- Also in 2009, after Michelle Obama made an impassioned speech before the Olympics Committee to try to win the placement for the 2016 Olympics for Chicago, the President himself went and lobbied as well. But not only did they fail in the attempt, they were further embarrassed when Chicago finished fourth place in the committee standings.<sup>50</sup>

Anti America

- During the 2008 presidential campaign, Obama showed his contempt for white working folk in Pennsylvania and the Midwest, by derisively saying they “cling to their guns and their religion.”<sup>51</sup>
- In a 2011 speech to the Congressional Black Caucus he told them to “...take off your bedroom slippers, stop complaining, and stop crying.”<sup>52</sup>
- Ninety days into the Obama Presidency, he told a crowd in Strasberg, France, that the United States has “shown arrogance and has been dismissive of its allies.”<sup>53</sup>
- In March of 2012 Obama was caught on a hot mic asking the Russian President to tell the Russian Prime Minister that, “This is my last election; after my election I will have more flexibility.” The only possible meaning is that he will no longer be beholden to voters.<sup>54</sup>
- While working to shut down U.S. oil production for “the environment’s sake,” Obama supported a billion dollar loan to Mexico for their drilling in the Gulf, and has also supported Brazilian offshore drilling.<sup>55</sup>
- Obama has shown his support for sanctuary cities for illegal aliens and has circumvented Congress to enact many of the provisions of the Dream Act that Congress voted down.<sup>56</sup>
- Obama has expressed his support of Global Taxes enacted by the U.N. He supported the UN’s Millennium Development Goals, which if enacted, would cost the United States nearly a trillion dollars annually beginning in 2015, according to Accuracy in Media.<sup>57</sup>
- Perhaps one of the most un-American acts of any presidential administration is the suing of the State of Arizona for actually enforcing U.S. immigration laws. Even worse, the U.S. State Department actually reported the Arizona initiative SB 1070 as a human rights violation to the United Nations Council on Human Rights.<sup>58</sup>

- Obama apologized to Afghanistan after several defaced copies of the Koran were burned by American soldiers, even though two American soldiers were killed in the protests that followed.<sup>59</sup>
- On Veterans Day 2010, instead of speaking about U.S. veterans and praising them, Obama snubbed American soldiers and spoke in Indonesia about their “Heroes Day” and praised their soldiers. In the same speech he went on to criticize Americans for not having more trust in Islam.<sup>60</sup>
- According to the Japan Times, in the fall of 2009, Obama had planned to visit Hiroshima and Nagasaki and apologize for the United States having dropped atomic bombs on them in WWII. But the Japanese told him to go fly a kite, and that they were not interested.<sup>61</sup>

Anti Bible, Anti Christian, Anti Christ

- “Whatever we once were, we are no longer just a Christian nation; we are also a Jewish nation, a Muslim nation, a Buddhist nation, a Hindu nation, and a nation of non believers.” Obama said this at the “Call to Renewal Conference”, June 8th, 2006.<sup>62</sup>
- Barack Obama personally blocked the Illinois “Live Baby Bill”, a bill which would have prevented aborted babies who survived outside the womb from being murdered, when he became the Chairman of the Health and Human Services Committee in the Illinois Legislature.<sup>63</sup>
- Obama actually argued that “We cannot legally recognize them [babies that survive abortion] as persons.” He reasoned that if babies who survive an abortion and are alive outside the womb are considered to be human beings, it could jeopardize someone’s right to an abortion. This proves beyond all doubt that to Barack Obama, the right to live, even after birth, is less important than the right to kill the unborn.<sup>64</sup>
- When a bill was brought before the Illinois Legislature to prevent pornography stores and strip clubs from opening close to churches and schools, Obama voted “present”.<sup>65</sup>

- On the campaign trail of the 2008 presidential race, Obama said that homosexuals are “people who are made in the image of God, and who are often truer to Christ’s message than those who condemn them.”<sup>66</sup>
- Obama has purposefully omitted the words, “The Creator” on seven different occasions when quoting the Declaration of Independence.<sup>67</sup>
- The Obama administration has argued in court, (and lost) that the First Amendment provides no protection for churches and synagogues to make their own choices when hiring and firing ministers.<sup>68</sup>
- Obama’s administration has a forgiveness policy for student loans in exchange for volunteer public service, but not if that service is related to any religion.<sup>69</sup>
- Obama has refused to honor the tradition of hosting a White House event for the National Day of Prayer, but instead hosts “Iftar” dinners for Ramadan.<sup>70</sup>
- Obama has ignored Biblical Holidays but officially recognizes Muslim Holidays, proven by his statements and proclamations on Ramadan, Hajj, and Eid-ul-Adha.<sup>71</sup>
- Even Obama’s Pastor, Reverend Wright said Barack and Michelle only went to church for political reasons. “Church is not their thing, it never was their thing. The church was not an integral part of their spiritual lives. The church was an integral part of Barack’s politics.”<sup>72</sup>

Anti Israel

- Ali Abunimah quoted Obama as having told him that he should keep up the good work of writing editorials that were critical of Israel, and told him on another occasion he was very supportive of U.S. pressure on Israel, rather than Hamas.<sup>73</sup>
- According to Abunimah, Obama was very involved in Palestinian activism, and not only attended but spoke at Deheisha Palestinian fundraisers.<sup>74</sup>
- In June of 2009, in an interview on French television, Obama claimed that the United States is one of the largest Muslim countries in the world.<sup>75</sup>
- Obama has been a close personal friend of Rashid Khalidi, a Palestinian apologist, saying he has shared many meals together with him, and has been a visitor at Khalidi's home many times. In 2003 Obama publicly thanked Khalidi for "expanding his world view."<sup>76</sup>
- Shortly before the Cannes Summit, Obama sunk American Israeli relations by demanding that Israel summarily accept the call to live within its 1967 borders.<sup>77</sup>
- Based on his speeches throughout his visit to several Muslim countries in July of 2009, Obama seems to ignore Israel's three thousand year history in the Middle East, and chooses instead to peddle the idea that Israel's only claim to the land is as a compensation for the Holocaust.<sup>78</sup>
- Obama was caught on a hot mic speaking to the French President Nicolas Sarkozy saying, "You're sick of him? [Benjamin Netanyahu] I have to work with him every day."<sup>79</sup>
- The White House insulted Netanyahu and his entourage on another occasion, when they kept the Israeli delegates waiting for hours, and then insulted them again when they brought them non kosher food that they couldn't eat.<sup>80</sup>

The Lawless One

- Obama has made it plain that his presidency is about doing what he wishes and circumventing Congress and ignoring court orders whenever it suits him. In an interview on 60 Minutes he said, “What I am not going to do is wait for Congress.” He told Brian Williams on NBC news in an August 2010 interview that his presidency would be much more about implementation than legislation. Rahm Emmanuel had even proclaimed that Obama would rule by Executive Order to get the job done quickly.<sup>81</sup>
- In February of 2012, Barack Obama directed the Justice Department to cease defending the U.S. Defense of Marriage Act.<sup>82</sup>
- The Obama Administration directed stem cell researchers to ignore a court ruling that struck down federal funding for Embryonic Stem Cell research.<sup>83</sup>
- Obama’s Justice Department refused to prosecute New Black Panther members in a voter intimidation case.<sup>84</sup>
- When Obama finally approved military action in Libya, he worked first to enlist the approval of the U.N. and the Arab League, without so much as getting a Congressional vote on the action, without even consulting Congress, and without consulting or alerting the American people.<sup>85</sup>
- Leon Panetta, in a March 2012 hearing before the Armed Services Committee, betrayed the Obama Administration’s true loyalties and regard for Congress when speaking of possible involvement in Syria, “Our goal would be to seek International permission, and then we would come to Congress to inform you.” Obviously Obama and his administrators consider themselves beholden to someone other than the American people, or their duly elected representatives.<sup>86</sup>
- In 2011 The Obama Justice Department sued the states of Arizona, Alabama, and South Carolina, for passing laws to enforce federal immigration laws.<sup>87</sup>
- President Obama invoked “Executive Privilege” in the “Fast and Furious” debacle, in which Obama’s Justice Department oversaw the selling of over two thousand guns to Mexican Drug Cartels. Internal ATF emails and whistleblowers from inside the Justice Department point to a conspiracy by the Obama Administration to create the appearance that American guns were to blame for the cartel violence – An act of fraud, an act of Treason, and an act of murder, as two hundred people were killed with those guns including U.S. Border Patrol Agent Brian Terry.<sup>88</sup>

- Obama campaigned repeatedly on a balanced Budget, cutting the Deficit, and paying some of the National Debt. But once in office, he has made no attempts at all in accomplishing these goals. In fact, he has done just the opposite.

So Just WHO is Barack Obama?

- A supporter of Global Taxes.
- A socialist who emulates fascists and other socialists.
- A President who considers himself above the law.
- A President who shows disdain for America when he is abroad.
- A President who circumvents Congress and the Courts at every opportunity.
- A President who pours taxpayer money into unviable companies.
- A President who welcomes Muslim Terrorists but shuns Christians and Jews.
- A long time multi millionaire attempting to appear poor.
- A President who wants you to “stop grumbling, stop complaining and stop being lazy,” because our problems are your fault.
- A President who doesn't mind high gas prices.
- A President who doesn't mind misleading the American People.
- A President who couldn't care less about the Constitution.
- A bungling disaster of a Commander in Chief.
- Someone who takes credit for the work of others.
- A President who believes more in International Law than in U.S. Law.
